The 138th Presidents Day Luncheon

This event, originally titled the Washington's Birthday Celebration is the One Hundred and thirty-eighth commemoration of the participation of the Company as an Honorary Escort to the President of the United States on the occasion of the dedication of the Washington Monument on Saturday, the twenty first day of February, 1885. President Chester A. Arthur was a member of the Company, having been enrolled on 12 October, 1882.

Excerpted from the Company Record of 19 – 23 February, 1885:

The Company breakfasted early on Saturday morning. At about nine o'clock, the line was formed, and the Company leaving the Hotel marched past the Riggs House, where a marching salute was paid to Governor Robinson of Massachusetts.

Thence the Company proceeded to its place in a grand procession. In GEN Philip H. Sheriden's orders, the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company was assigned as Honorary Escort to the President of the United States. The extreme cold made the duty of the day very hard., "It being so cold that the wind instruments were frozen." The exercises at the Monument having been concluded, the procession moved from the Monument grounds through Seventeenth Street to the new State, War and Navy Department buildings, and thence in front of the Executive Mansion, through Fifteenth Street to Pennsylvania Avenue. The procession was reviewed by the President from the platform in front of the Capitol, and by GEN Sheriden from the opposite side of the street. The Artillery Company in their new overcoats presented a very solid appearance, and were highly complimented when GEN Sheriden said that "They appeared to a better advantage than the Regulars in their march by the reviewing stand." The Artillery Company returned immediately to the Hotel.

For the excursion to Washington DC on 19 February, 1885, the Company mustered 170 men under the Command of Captain Ezra J. Trull and was accompanied by the Salem Cadet Band. The First Lieutenant was LT Henry E. Smith, the Second Lieutenant Isaac D. Dana, Adjutant Edward F. Wells, First SGT of Artillery Jacob Foster. Vincent LaForme was the Paymaster. George H. Allen was Clerk and George P. May was Quartermaster.

Unlike today, the Company in 1885 marched under arms: Rifles with fixed bayonets.

An interesting note: In 1885, the Company recruited 53 new members, including Massachusetts industrialist and philanthropist Oliver Ames.

The Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts

Chartered in 1638

The First Military Company Chartered in the Western Hemisphere

As the settlements which followed the landing at Plymouth increased and spread across Massachusetts, there was no organized military force for protection against the Indians. So-called "Train Bands" were formed in different settlements, but these were only local volunteer companies and there was no joint action or centralized authority. A number of settlers had been members of the Honorable Artillery Company of London (organized and chartered in 1537) and it was natural that the military training they had received in that Company should lead them to desire to form a similar organization in the new country. In 1637 the Company was formed for the instruction in discipline and tactics. Upon petition, Governor Winthrop and The Great and General Court of the Commonwealth granted a Charter in March 1638. On the first Monday in June following, an election of Officers was held on Boston Common. Since that time, the Company has maintained the tradition of having its annual election on Boston Common on the first Monday in June by casting their votes on the Drum Head.

Since 1746, the Headquarters of the Ancients has been located in Faneuil Hall, an Historic edifice known to all Americans. In the Armory, the Company maintains a unique Military Museum and Library, which is without equal in the United States. Here are relics of every war in which the Country has engaged since settlement. The Armory is open to the public daily and many thousands of visitors from every part of the world register every year in the guest book.

Members of the Company trod the fields of every battlefield of New England; they fought for freedom on foreign soil; they judged the courts; they pleaded at the bar; they instituted town government and leveled forests; were active in settling the towns of the frontier. Members of The Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company have served in every battlefield from Bunker Hill to Yorktown, the War of 1812 and the Civil War, both World Wars, Korea, Vietnam, Desert Storm and its members still serve at home and abroad today.

This is the same Company that Washington knew, that Franklin saw march through the streets of Boston, that John Adams and John Quincy Adams visited, that has had eight members who received the nation's highest military decoration – the Medal of Honor – and has had four of its members serve in the world's most important office, President of the United States: Presidents James Monroe, Chester Alan Arthur, Calvin Coolidge and John F. Kennedy, the same Company which has always will stood for, and always will stand for, the best in citizenship.
